COOK COUNTY POLITICS.

Continuation of the Meetings of the Republican and Democratic Central Committees.

The Nomination of Charley Ham for County Treasurer Withdrawn and Phil. Wadsworth Substituted.

The Democracy Still Unprepared to Put Candidates in the Field.

Republican Central Committee.

The Republican Central Committee reassembled at 10 yesterday morning, at the High School.

Mr. CHAIN suggested that they should throw open the room to all Republicans.

It was finally decided that, in view of the smallness of the room, and the fact that the papers were represented, there was nothing like secrecy about their sessions.

Mr. MCCREA said he was unable, under any circumstances, to serve as a member of the Board of County Commissioners. He was much obliged to Mr. Fahiman, a member of the old board, who was desired by the country Germans. It would not do to ignore the old board, for, while many were dishonest, many, and Mr. Fahiman among them, were very good. His nomination would strengthen the ticket and give general satisfaction.

J. C. KNICKERBOCKER opposed the leaving out of one of the old board, since it would tend to let in many. The old board were a stench in the nostrils of the people, and nothing had pleased them more than dropping the old board. Other old members were waiting their chance. He was bitterly opposed to any of Mr. McCrea go.

Mr. RASTER supported Mr. McCrea's motion. It did gratify the people that members of the old board were excluded. But this was a special case. The Germans did want a representative from the country. In the county a difference of language was of great consequence. In the country where four-fifths spoke German, they might have a representative who spoke their own tongue. They would make an exception for the country only, and not for the city.

K. S. TAYLOR said nearly every town in the North Division was represented. There was only one German. Mr. Fahiman had been Supervisor for the largest portion of those towns, and all the voters there wanted him. His record was admirable.

Mr. JUDD regarded the position of the Second District as exceptional and thought as a mere business matter, a German should be selected there.

J. C. KNICKERBOCKER said he had no better friend than Mr. Fahiman, and he could endorse him, but his objection was not a personal one.

J. H. Fahiman was nominated.

SAMUEL SAUTER said at a meeting of the Twentieth Ward Republicans they had protested against the course of the Central Committee, and had instructed him to withdraw temporarily. There were 160 prominent Republicans there.

On Colonel Wadsworth's nomination.

Mr. ARTEMAS CARTER said he did not desire to be put in nomination for State Senator.

A question then arose as to the division of Town offices.

Mr. GARRETTE suggested they give the Democrats the South Chicago and South Side Supervisor and Clerk.

Mr. Carter was nominated for State Senator.

E. S. TAYLOR nominated H. B. Hard.

Mr. CARTER said one day for the papers that Prince Gong was not subsidiary. Now what would they do—withdraw?

Mr. GARRICK said they did not oppose Republicans, but Democrats.

Mr. DOW did not believe the editorial list should be given till the Democrats had produced theirs. He moved a committee of three be appointed to meet a Democratic committee, and exchange lists.

Mr. JUDD believed in leaving the matter to the sub-committee.

E. G. TAYLOR moved the sub-committee have full discretion.

Mr. BLAKELEY thought they should not put the ticket in such a time, but no valid objection was to be raised against Mr. Wadsworth. It should be mentioned that the able gentleman withdrew from the political field immediately after the fire occurred, and did not approach the committee during any of its sessions.

The nomination of Mr. Gund for re-election as a member of the Board of Education at a member of the Board of County Commissioners was allowed to stand.

We still think that a better nomination can be made from among the Germans of the North Division, and we hope it may yet be done.

The remainder of the ticket, with a few unimportant exceptions, which are not worth talking about, is an excellent one—far better than we expected. If the Democratic branch of the joint committee do their work equally well, there will be no difficulty in electing the joint ticket.

KEYS BY MAIL.

Small fees are now in season of citizens who, like the Toronto Telegraph suggests, are in the habit of reporting to the city hall to represent the city. Hence Mr. Wadsworth was put in nomination instead of a Democrat. We think that the question of loyalty ought not to have been brought in at such a time, but no valid objection can be raised against Mr. Wadsworth. It should be mentioned that the able gentleman withdrew from the political field immediately after the fire occurred, and did not approach the committee during any of its sessions.

The nomination of Mr. Gund for re-election as a member of the Board of Education and Messrs. Sauter and Fuller and Five Commissioners was allowed to stand.

Modern insurance has provided for lows: The Low Church Bishops, who in num- ber, express gratitude to God for the se- curity, and, being unknown, probably not to be the Methodist Episcopal Church, in the interior parts of the United States, is a timely and beneficial measure. The loss will be felt as universally, though not as direct- ly. As the withdrawal of a barrel of water from the ocean, reduces the entire volume, so the total annihilation of property will affect the great body of wealth. How much it has been taken, and the loss will have to be supplied from the aggregate capital of the globe. Modern insurance is an equal for- tunate, by the timely cancelling of all loss- es, by the distribution of the burden of misfortune, so that it only necessary to bear a fractional part of the loss. Insurance is also a great equalizer of the values of property, and is the means of preventing the accumulation of vast fortunes in the hands of a few individuals, by the destruction of those values, and thus, in time, the spreading of wealth among the many. Insurance is the best friend of the poor man, and the most powerful ally of the rich. Without it, the latter would be compelled to keep on hand, in cash, the whole value of his property, or run the risk of losing it by fire. With it, he can convert his property into cash at any moment, by effecting insurance to the amount he desires. Insurance is the best friend of commerce, and the most powerful ally of the merchant
